

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

September 10, 2021

Thank you for contacting the Biden-Harris Administration.

President Biden and Vice President Harris value every opportunity to engage with the American people, and the Administration is grateful for your outreach. Our country faces many challenges, and messages like yours help us better understand how the Biden-Harris Administration can serve American families.

We take careful note of the suggestions, thoughts, questions, and stories we receive, and we're working hard to ensure you receive an appropriate response.

Sincerely,

The Office of Presidential Correspondence
